Dedication

This book is dedicated to Coach Keith Piper who spent 39 years commanding the football team at Denison University. Piper's devotion to the single-wing offense made Denison the only college in the nation to use this style. His unique coaching style and his impressive record of 200 victories as head coach has ensured that his name will last at Denison, as well as at the national level of Division III athletics.

We also dedicate the 1993 Adytum to those we lost from the Denison community this past year. We are grateful for all that they contributed to our community, and they will be missed.

There have been many changes in the residential living options over the past few years. Special interest housing, substance free housing, and the opening of Taylor House are just a few. The photos on these two pages were taken in Denison University and Shepardson College dorm rooms.

Beaver Hall

Beaver Hall was established on the East Quadrangle for the women, of what was then called Shepardson College, in 1924-25. Named after Mary Thresher Beaver, the hall originally housed sixty-five women.

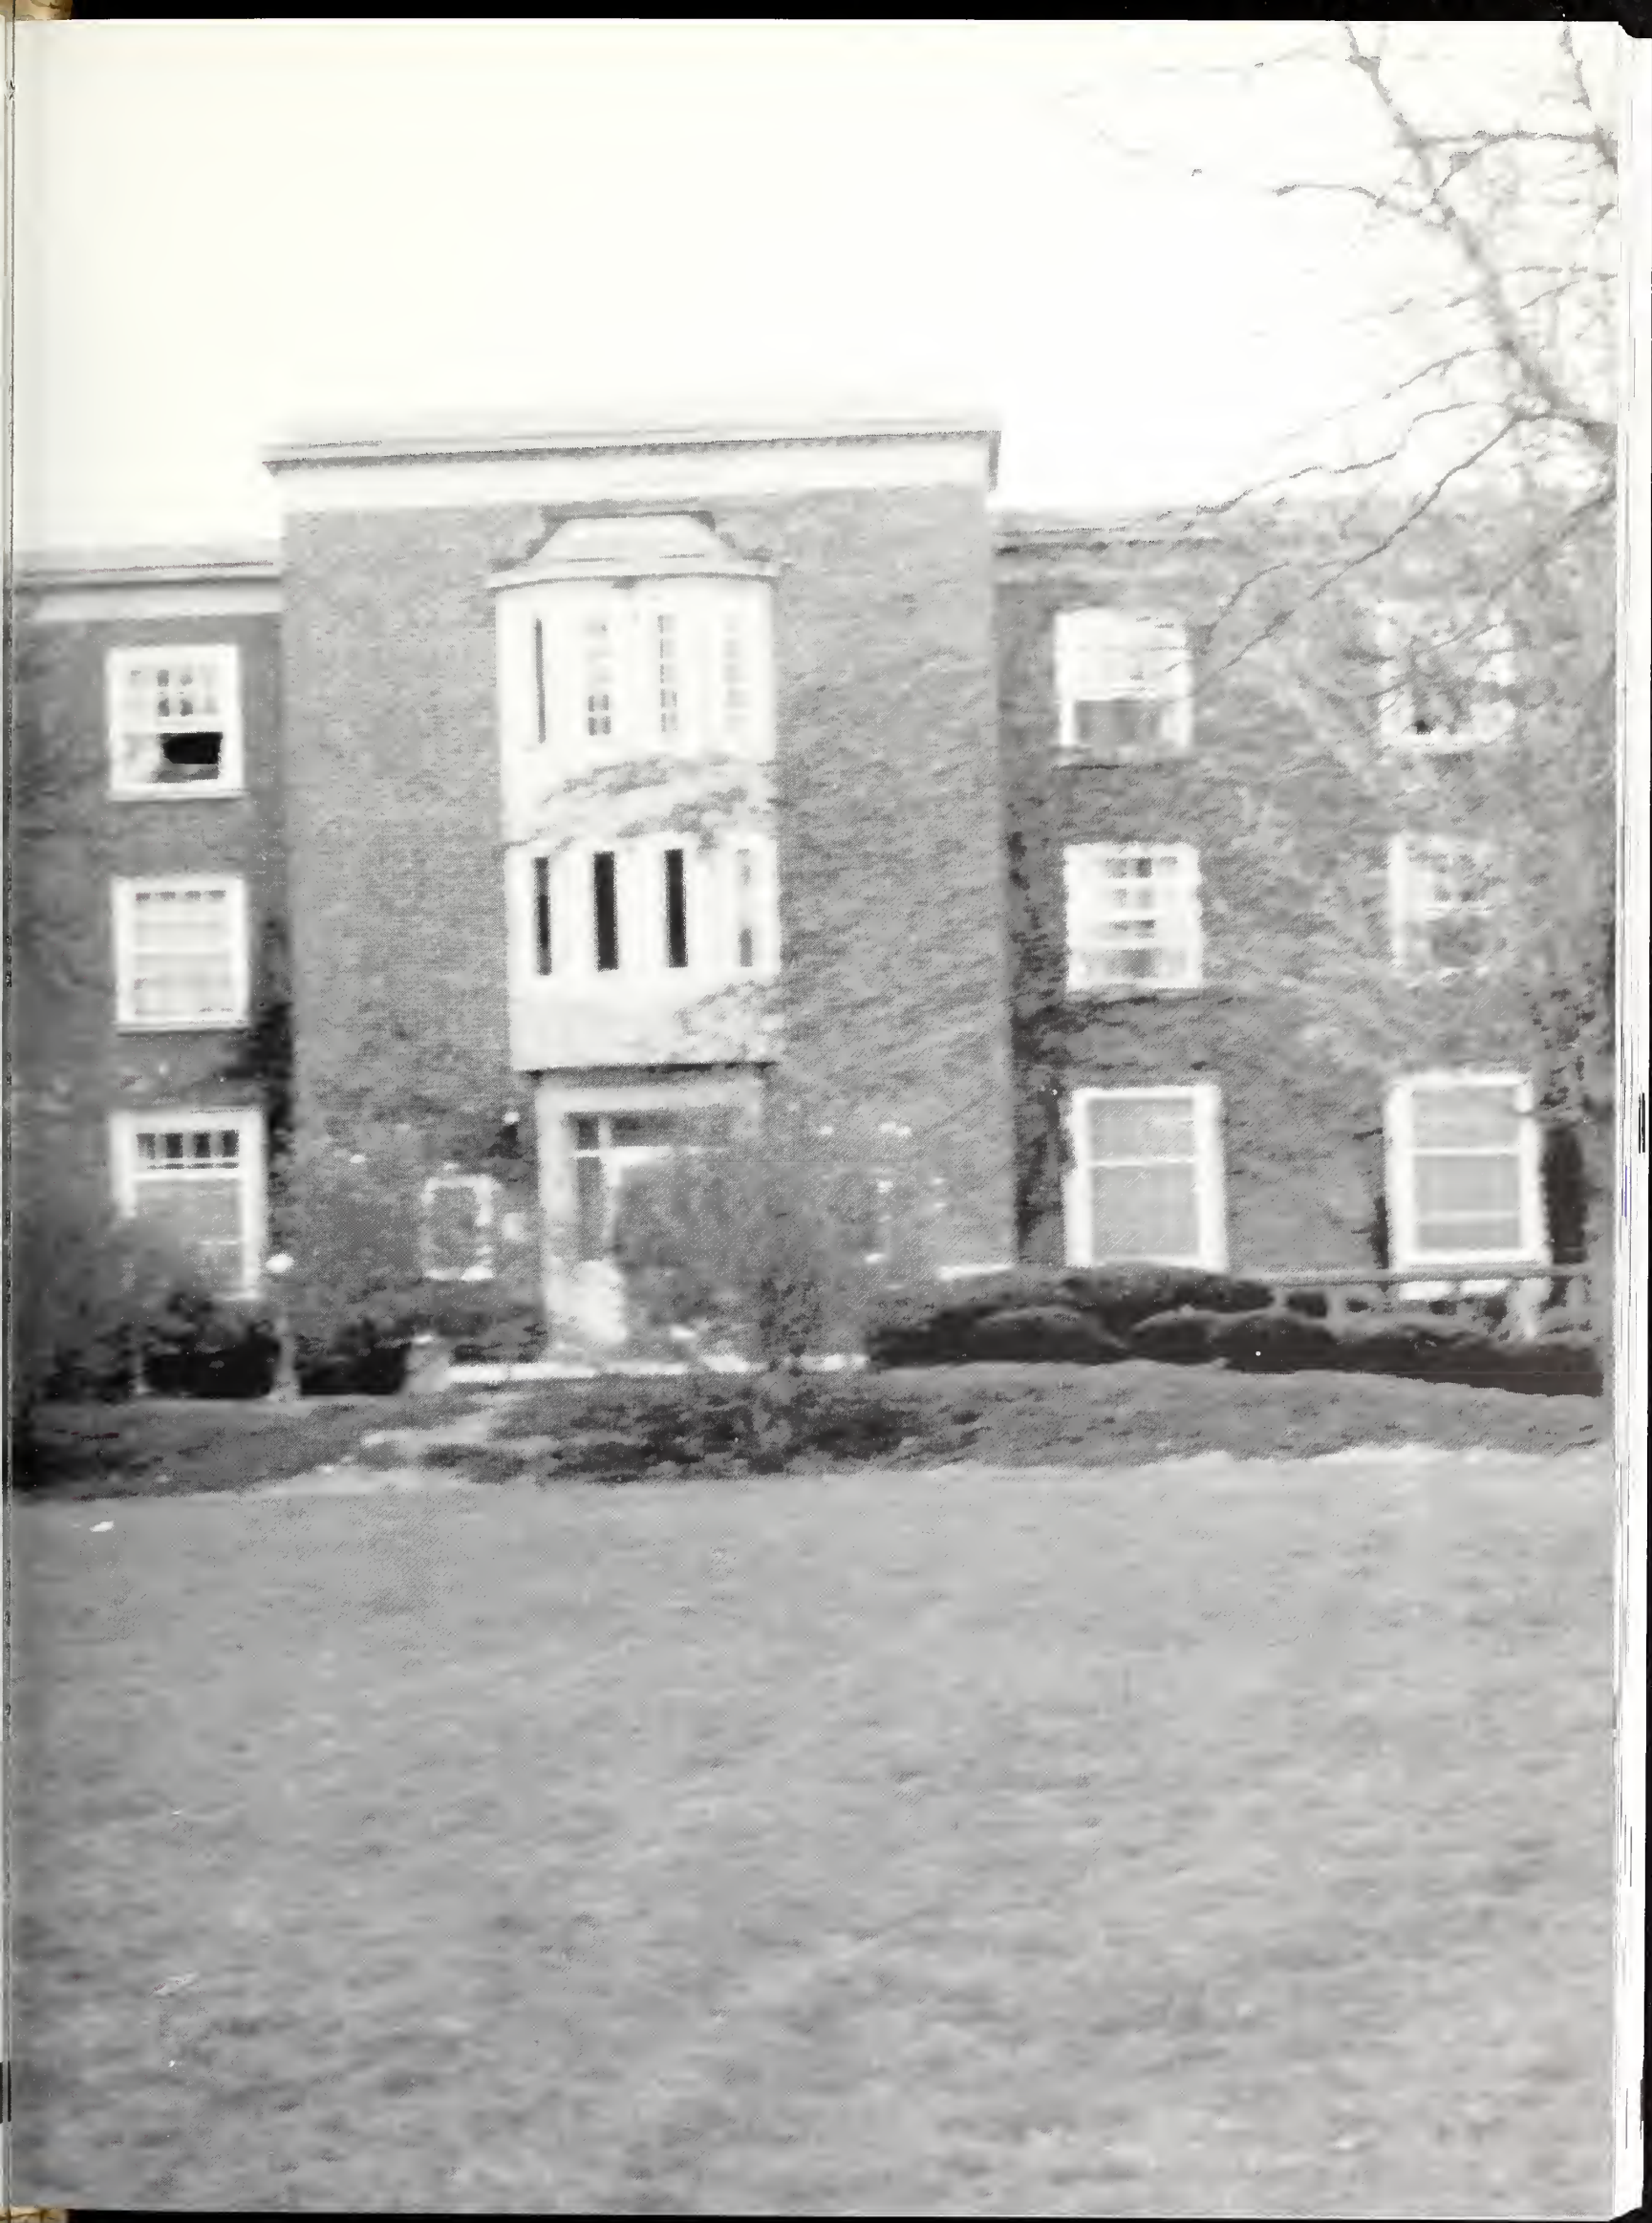

Holly Aikens, Kimberly Anderson, Adrienne Bagno, Fana Beyene, Cama Bonneau, Anne Bowden, Gay Boyer, Sarah Brasfield, Leslie Callaway, Abigail Chiles, Jennifer Chorpennig, Samina Chughtai, Nancy Claar, Jill Clark, Kelley Cochran, Casey Conroy, Heather Crane, Rebecca Davis, Megan Doyle, Ashley Edwards, Stephanie Ellington, Margaret Flood, Michele Forstot, Kathleen Fowles, Jennifer Given, Amy Goslee, Mary Gossett, Shelly Harnett, Tamra Heeter, Gabriela Herzberg, Julie Hilberg, Courtney Hughes, Megan Jelovich, Marion Kent, Patricia King, Samantha Kirkham, Lynn Kistler, Klaudija Klesinger, Amy Kropp, Kristy Kull, Julie Lacy, Holly Lentini, Alicia Lynn, Rebecca Major, Stacia McMahon, Christine Merrick, Laura Mily, Jennifer Minning, Amy Needham, Stacy Neher, Carolyn Noonan, Jennifer Peden, Amy Pellegrini, Melanie Pokoly, Kristina Polak, Jennifer Posa, Kelly Renner, Maureen Rose, Amy Rosenbach, Katrina Rudder, Laura Sandman, Christine Schmid, Nicole Sergent, Katharine Sheehan, Deborah Sinclair, Sally Small, Emily Smith, Karen Smith, Katharine Smith, Kristie Smith, Jill Stern, Katherine Stobbs, Jennifer Stump, Christine Talarico, Nicole Taylor, Katherine Tomaro, Lisa Ward, Laurel Westman, Carey White, Lynne White, Nancy White, Lara Whitmore, Karin Zimmerman

Crawford Hall

In 1959, the trustees approved to have Crawford hall built. The dorm, named for the trustees' buildings and grounds chairman Frederick C. Crawford, was intended to house 206 freshman women.

ctivities

Denison University has always been a place where students are encouraged to be involved on campus and in the community through participation in over 100 student-run organizations. Students benefit not only from the leadership experience they gain, but also from the confidence and friendships built from working together. Extracurricular activities enable the necessary development beyond the classroom to ensure a well-rounded education.

This year was quite challenging for the Bullsheel staff as they battled the administration and the DCGA President for the right to determine the 'sheet contents. After much debate, the staff decided to enlarge their editorial staff in efforts to eliminate any faulty editorial decisions. Besides this, the 'sheet was entertaining as usual filled with witty quotes and Top Ten lists.

Editor Paul Rinkes shares his secret for stimulating the creative minds behind those Top Ten lists — Milky Ways.

Black Student Union

Chief Minister Explains Black Student Union Concerns

By JOHN SMITH

This is what led to the Homecoming-day protest by the BSU: the incident between Andrea [Wedderburn] and Dr. Ralf Remshardt took place on Tuesday, and Andrea brought her concerns to us on Friday. She was very upset about the incident and repeated exactly what she got from the conversation. That was what we addressed in our first letter to the theatre department and our open letter to the

com
Anc
Ren

Artist directed a play called Pearly Victorious two years ago. Ryan Palmer and Christine Burden both had lead roles. The only time I saw Andrea in a play prior to The Cavern was when she played a maid last year in The Real Inspector Hound, and she told me that was the only part she was allowed to read for.

We, as black students, not only were furious about what was said to Andrea but also about the reality of the theatre department, which is that due to Denison's selection of plays, black theatre majors are turned off from auditioning although they're talented, and they should have an equal chance to participate stage offers no plays that speak to their experiences or to any experience outside of the European perspective. Any play that restricts itself in character should not be on the main stage, because then you cannot actually say that you practice color-blind casting and open casting because the play automatically limits itself to the type of actors who can be cast.

Denison's good for dealing with statistics—if you look at the President's open letter to the community, it's full of statistics. But statistics don't deal with the individual. They don't deal with the pain that Andrea feels when she has to play a role she's not comfortable with.

A prime example of the

does not—or cannot—take into account the reality that when many of us go home for the summer, if we are even lucky enough to find a job, often we're expected not just to save that money for school but also to contribute to the household.

This is not exclusively an African-American problem: the problem is that it affects black students disproportionately. If the University is really committed to diversity, it needs to make funds available so that the black students it recruits can afford to stay here for four years.

Denison needs to set up programs to help black students be able to apply for grants and scholarships. Black students generally have lower GPAs than white students, and it's not because we are not as smart or not as prepared as white students.

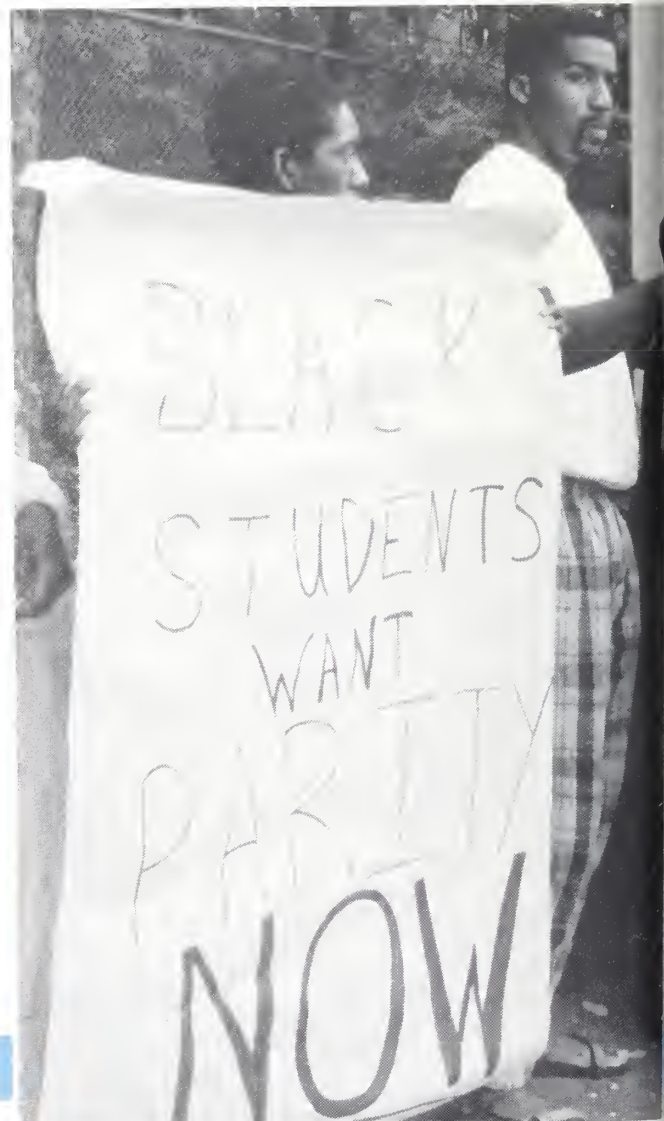

In general we have a lot of outside priori-

's.

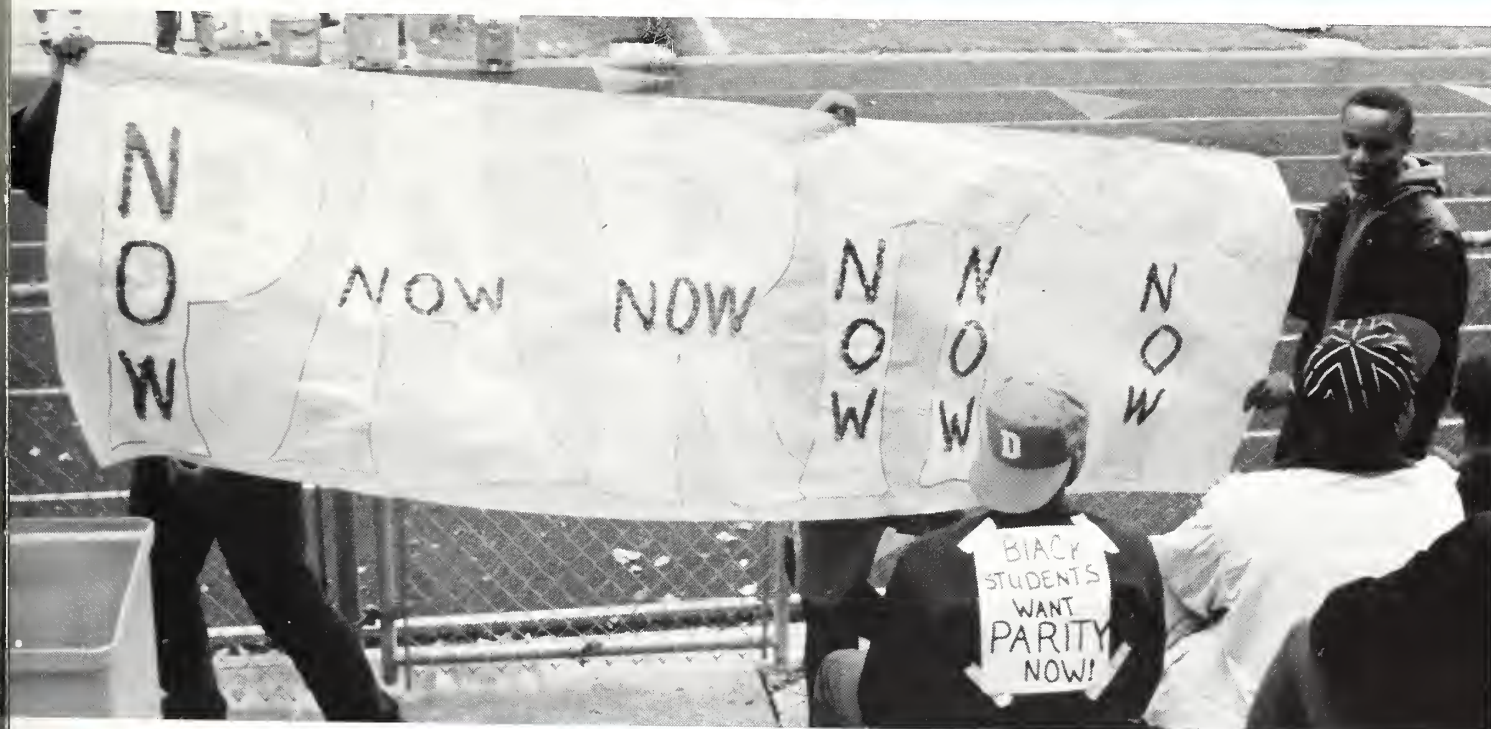

The Black Student Union held a demonstration on Homecoming-day that was sparked by an incident in the theatre department. Racist statements allegedly were made by a professor who seemed to be speaking on behalf of the department, and it seemed that our theatre department was not practicing color-blind casting in the main stage plays. The African-American students contested that although Denison was producing diversity statistics, they were avoiding problems affecting the individual students such as the theatre casting policy and lack of financial aid.

BSU & IFC to Co-Sponsor Parties

In the spring of 1993, the Black Student Union and the Interfraternity Council established a contract to begin co-sponsoring parties on campus. They feel that this is a positive move in the social climate at Denison, and hope to continue sponsoring a few parties each semester in the future.

The Denisonian had an outstanding year covering the Black Student Union demonstration at Homecoming, producing a special student body election issue, and a superb April Fool's edition that covered the surprise decision to drop the Economics Department in order to begin a Modeling Department!

Despite the excellent quality of the paper this year, the staff struggled to make its editorial policy known as many students reacted negatively to unsigned editorials. The policy was printed in the editorial box, as one would expect, but some students failed to notice. Besides this, The Denisonian had relatively few problems and produced a remarkable paper.

DCA Celebrates 50 Years of Service

By CHARLES N. BROWN
 Staff Writer

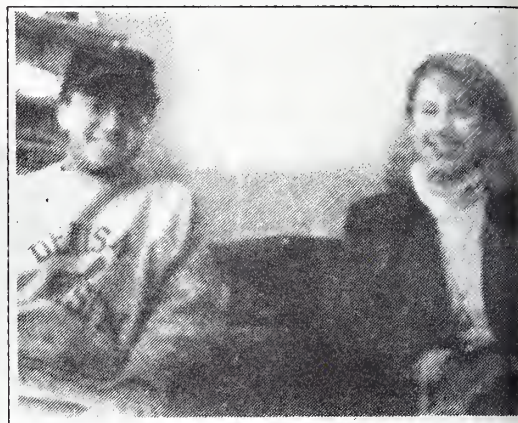

Denison Community Association is celebrating its 50th year of community service during the 1992-93 school year.

DCA is a student-run organization that currently has 323 members. A cabinet of eight students decides upon policy and 32 students chair 20 sub-committees.

DCA Coordinator Irene Kennedy said that DCA was called Denison Christian Emphasis Program at its inception in 1942.

The organization was founded by former Denison student William Danforth as a four-year experiment aimed at enhancing religious life on

Senior Sweetheart Serenade

This year was an awakening for the Greek system as regulations and policies were under scrutiny. Also there were new sister and associate member programs started in some of the houses to replace the traditional pledge programs. Everyone realized that the system was going to have to adapt, or become extinct. The houses sponsored more philanthropic events and education programs in order to make the Denison system stronger. With all of the changes, the system is still thriving at Denison building lifetime bonds and friendships.

Beta Theta Pi

Beta Theta Pi was founded at Miami University in 1839, with pink and blue as their colors and the American Beauty Rose as their flower. The Alpha Eta chapter was established at Denison on December 23, 1868. The chapter was an outgrowth of the Kappa Phi Lambda and the HapHazard societies, and survived by operating sub-rosa for the eight years that Denison had an anti-fraternity law.

Delta Upsilon, the oldest, non-secretive fraternity, was founded at Williams College in 1834 with old gold and sapphire blue for their colors. The Denison chapter was installed in 1950, and became inactive in 1984. During the time Delta Upsilon was suspended, their fraternity house was used as a Global Studies center and as West Hall, a residence hall for seniors. Most recently, the former Delta Upsilon house was renovated into Taylor House apartments.

The chapter survived underground as a non-residential fraternity on campus, until they could regain campus recognition. The chapter was reinstated as a non-residential fraternity at Denison in the spring of 1993.

Alpha Chi Omega was founded at the School of Music at De Pauw University in 1885, with red and green as their colors and the lyre as their symbol. The Delta Xi chapter was installed at Denison in 1961 and met in the Monomoy Annex. In 1963, the chapter moved across the street into their modern house on Mulberry Street, which now serves as the Cinema building. Alpha Chi Omega, like many of the sororities suffered low membership in the seventies and closed its doors. The chapter was recolonized in 1985.

Delta Gamma was founded in 1873 at Lewis Institute, Oxford, Mississippi. The cream colored rose was selected as their national flower and bronze, pink and blue as their colors. The Beta Zeta chapter was installed on our campus in 1938.

Founded at Monmouth College in 1870, Kappa Kappa Gamma is one of the nation's oldest sororities. They chose blue, in dark and light shades, as their national colors and the fleur-de-lys as their flower. The Gamma Omega chapter, installed in December 1929, grew from the local Kappa Phi sorority which was founded by six women of Shepardson College on September 14, 1898.

Campus Revisions

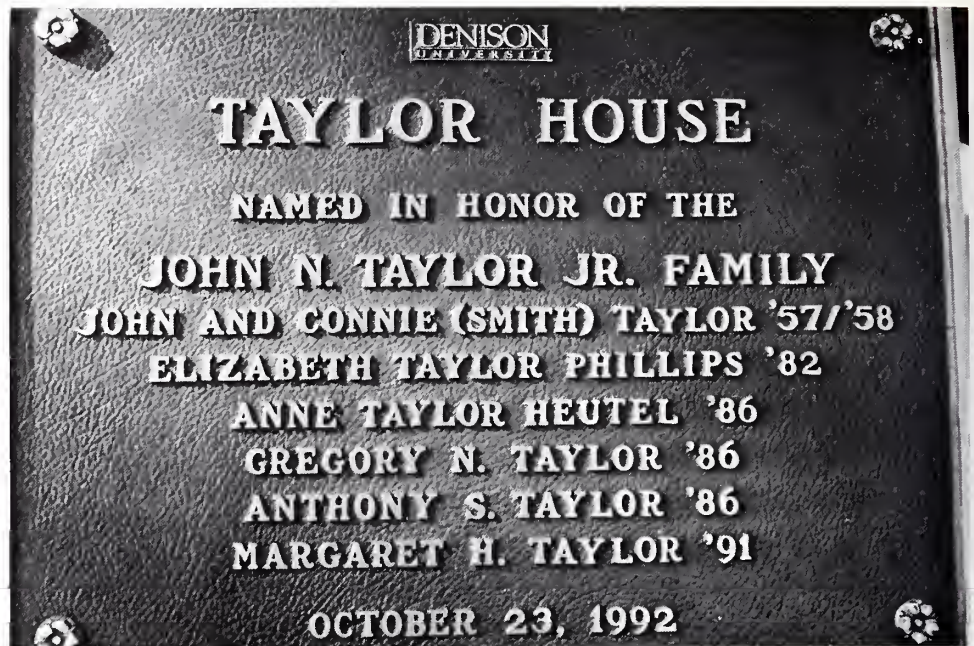

These photos are of early student unions in Denison's history. In the past year, the Denison community saw the renovation of Slayter Hall. The third floor bowling alley was removed and the space was used for student offices, student recreation facilities and the pub. Students also saw the completion of Taylor House — the apartment style living center is quite a change from West Hall or the Delta Upsilon fraternity house, both previous uses of the building. In the spring, came the ground breaking of the grant funded Olin Science Building, an addition which will complete the West Quadrangle.

Updating the Union

This year Slayter student union was renovated with the addition of an open stairway from the second to the third floor, the removal of the bowling alley and the addition of student office space and a pub that would serve lunches, appetizers and beer. The renovation was intended to increase student utilization of the third floor.

John Taylor, Denison class of 1957 and board member, and his wife Connie, also a Denison graduate, (above) cut the ribbon to officially open Taylor House.

Senior Wendy Frease, head resident of Taylor House, presented Mr. and Mrs. Taylor with a painting of the building during the ceremony.

Olin Groundbreaking Ceremony Friday

From Staff Reports

Groundbreaking for the F.W. Olin Science Hall will be at 5:45 p.m. tomorrow (April 16), according to Associate Provost Keith Boone. The entire campus is invited, and the members of the Board of Trustees will also be present.

The groundbreaking ceremony will involve 15 people with shovels. The group will consist of: students who are majoring in science and math; chairs of the science and math departments; administrators and trustees.

One of the shovels is going to be borrowed from the archives. It was last used in 1935 in the groundbreaking of the William Howard Doane Library, Boone said. In addition, a billboard will be uncovered with a sketch of the science hall, added Boone.

Speakers at the ceremony will include Larry Milas, president of the Olin Foundation; University President Michele Myers; Lee Larson, professor and chair of the physics and astronomy department; and junior Chris Swanson, a math major and physics minor.

Denison was one of two schools who received a grant from the F.W. Olin Foundation of New York and Minneapolis for the current year. The grant totaled $6.1 million.

In the event of rain, the ceremony will be in Herrick Hall.

Christopher Swanson, a junior, (above) discussed the student benefits offered by the new science building.

The scheduled completion date of the F.W. Olin Science Hall is fall semester, 1994.

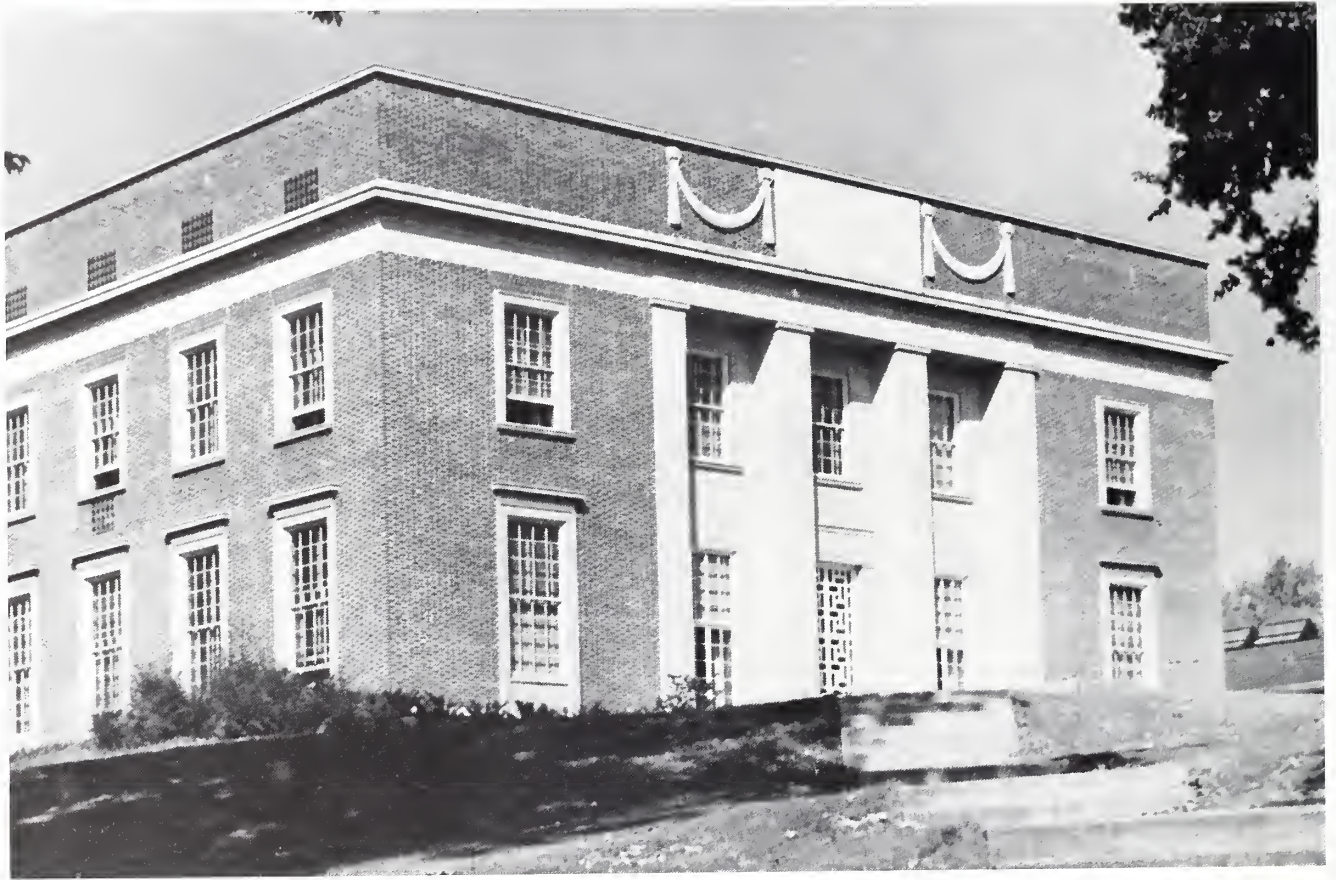

Finally an excuse to bring the official Denison groundbreaking shovel down from the archives!

Professors, students and administrators (right) all had a part in the groundbreaking. They better dig faster if it's going to be open in 1997!

Both students and faculty were recognized at the Academic Awards Ceremony in the spring. The Teaching Excellence Award, chosen by a committee of former award recipients, was awarded to Dr. Ken Bork, geology/geography department. This award is given to a faculty member who has made a "distinct difference in the teaching climate of the college in terms of model classroom teaching, in terms of creative course development, outstanding advising and pursuit of teaching as an art," according to Dr. Keith Boone.

The Charles and Nancy Brickman Distinguished Service Chair was created to honor a senior faculty member who has excelled in his or her commitment to the university. The recipient will be a model of accomplished teaching, show outstanding concern for students, and have exemplary service to the community. The 1992-93 Brickman Distinguished Service Chair was awarded to Dr. Samuel Thios, psychology department.

Denison has been rich in the arts and continues that tradition with superior performance in music, theater, studio art and dance. Students are encouraged to express themselves through their work and many choose to do that through writing — either for EXILE or their own plays. These pages show samples of the artistic work by students this year.

Meditation on Darts

A man aims, desiring to pinpoint his goal, then casts away, hoping to hit the circle among circles—

A miss.

He clamps another and contemplates: a moth transforming to a caterpillar, an object caught in the gyre
of a tornado (revolving, twisting),
stuck in a cycle with an end
at its start.

One last shot, tangled in the momentum of motion.
In childhood it was easier; now he is older wanting to begin again
when it ends. The throw spirals to its target.

Bullseye.

Alice Receives an 'A'

By BRIAN W. LINDAMOOD

Managing Editor

The theatre department's mainstage production of A...My Name is Alice is a delightfully entertaining musical revue.

Alice features a cast of five women, seniors Heather Cunningham and Teresa Hill, sophomores Stacey Bryant and Katrina Petersen and freshman Jaye Barnes. In the tradition of a true ensemble, the cast works well together, competently and realistically portraying a variety of characters of both genders.

While Director Maureen Ryan effectively utilizes the talents of each cast member, Cunningham's outstanding performance established her as a standout within the ensemble. Cunningham's emotional delivery of "The Portrait," a

And Miss Reardon Comes to Burke

By PAUL AMORE
Staff Writer

The Theatre II production of And Miss Reardon Drinks A Little, written by Paul Zindel, will open tonight (Feb. 11) and run through Saturday (Feb. 13).

The cast includes junior Cheyanne Paris as Catherine, sophomores Cory Welles as Anna, Cameron Frost as Ceil, Michael Estanich as Bob, Carey Christie as Mrs. Petrano, Rob Will as the Delivery Boy and freshman Adrienne Fair as Fleur.

Miss Reardon centers around three sisters who are dealing with the death of their mother, as well as each other. "It's a 'day in the life' kind of play," said Christie. However, rather than appearing dark or depressing, Miss Reardon is quite comical.

Estanich and Christie, the co-directors of Miss Reardon, have taken an unusual approach. What is even more unusual is that they both have roles in the play.

"Since I knew that the musical [this semester] was going to consist of all females, I wanted something I could act in. At the same time, I wanted to direct this play," explained Estanich. He asked Christie if she would co-direct with him because he knew that otherwise he wouldn't be able to both act and direct.

The two are confident that the play will be a success, despite their stated feeling that Theatre II productions have a reputation for not being very good. "I really think this play might help to get rid of this stereotype," said Christie.

EXILE

For My Fiancé

That night beneath the wavering leaves, I felt
Your touch, the gentle breeze, a shelter,

One that moved me, caressed me, and hid the warm mist.
Three hearts, chipped into oak, positioned by the sweltering

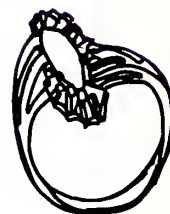

Point of a dull blade, were reminiscent of your lips' moistness
When I first saw your words swim. They still tell

The story witnessed by the lightbulb of the night, the blind hoo, wishing to welcome

Another bond like those carvings. Clouds rushed past our light
Like a hesitant blink. Hands of dark skeletons

Waved goodbye. Nervous shivers halted!
Finally, I clutched your hand in mine. And knelt.

Seasons of Change

I am a descendent of dreams
intertwined in a hardened man's thoughts.
I am a companion of compromise
swaying easily like minted fields of greenery.
I am a traveler of tides
moving meekly with the crowded waters of uniformity
I am a moment of a memory
a fairy light image in the corner of a mind.

But times turn...

Like the shade of an old Oak's leaf in October.
Once lush, fragmented green becomes victim to pattern
and in death displays
crisp uniqueness and absent partnership.

Times turn again...

And I become an image of a former image releasing my shadow to the destiny of a wind-swept winter.
Now standing barren of influence,
shielded by confidence.

Thus,

I no longer am a companion of compromise.
I no longer travel with the tide.
I am no longer a simple moment of a memory forgotten.

But...

I am still a descendent of dreams—
riding the tail-spun tapestry of life.

Arriving On A Nightmare

Walking down 57th street,
I can see it,
and feel it
etched in the sweaty
brown-black faces of the homeless, and the worker.
It isn't going anywhere,
it runs from the BMW driving,
Armani suit wearing "Negroes," to Mr. Greenwell walking up the Cole Ave. hill after another 15 1/2 hour work day
with holes in his boots,
and "lem-black" in his lungs.
It travels across the linear boundaries of this place,
and the degrees of pigmentation
among us.
It is the reminder of that moment, as fleeting as it may have been, when we knew we arrived upon a nightmare,
which closes the cracks in on us even when we'd hoped that we had slipped on thru.

Many students take the opportunity to study abroad for a semester or their entire junior year. It's not only a chance to escape from Denison, but an opportunity to live independently in another culture. Some are even daring enough to study in a country even if they do not know the language. Although it's a struggle at first, the students return with fond memories and experiences that they will treasure, ready to face their senior year.

Many Denison students spend their time out of the classroom on the playing field, the court or in the pool. Denison has eighteen varsity sports from which to choose and consistently competes at the national level in some of them. The photo above is of the interior of the Doane Gymnasium.

HISTORY OF '93.

Senior year — the most anxious and most fun year of the college experience. Keeping up with classes while going through a job search certainly causes frustration, but eventually everything works out, and in the process seniors build memories that last a lifetime.

THE ALMA MATER To Denison V. E. Field, '03

To Denison we raise our song,
Fair college on the hill,
The name that sets our souls on fire,
And makes our senses thrill.
To Denison, my Denison,
In praise our voices swell,
The scenes of happy college days,
The Home we love so well.

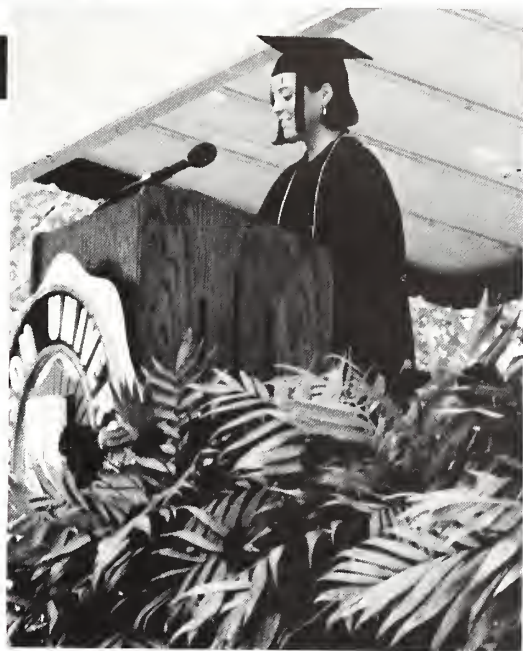

Oh morning glow, which gilds the east,
Oh sun which shines at noon,
Oh stars which bloom at eventide,
Oh radiant glowing moon,
Look from the pathless, azure dome,
Shed blessings from above,
On college halls and college walls,
The Denison we love.

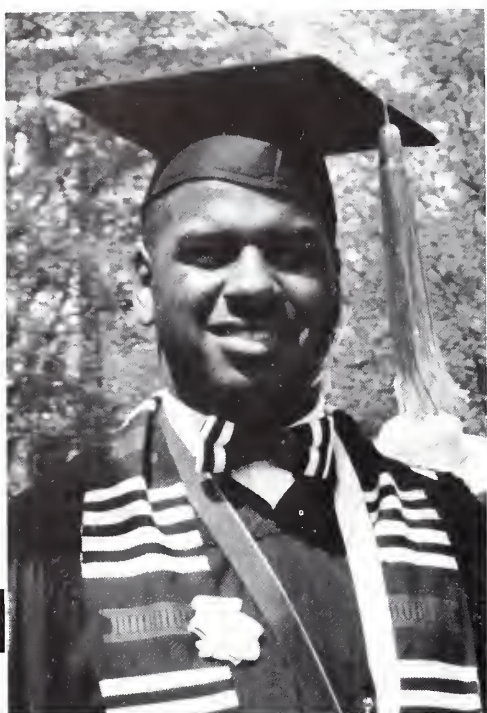

And when the shadows softly fall,
O'er hills and valleys dear,
Across the college campus rings,
The melody so clear;
The circling hills throw back again,
The glad inspiring song,
And in our hearts to Denison,
Our praises we prolong.

When from the fold we far shall stray,
With souls no longer young,
We'll ne'er forget our college days,
These happy scenes among;
And when our steps have feeble grown,
Our journey almost done,
E'en then with fleeting breath we'll praise,
Our dear old Denison.

CONGRATULATIONS
RANDY

From old Dover you left, forth to sally
To the gentle hills of Licking Valley;
To the Big Red on high
Leaving us home to cry
Like two cats in a brawl in an alley.

Oh the laurels you've garnered are like
A great peak higher than that of Pike.
Doctors Dave, Thios, Hoeft
Are bereaved and bereft
Without you in the Department--psyche.

Ah, your friendships provided life's glue:
There is Dan and Duke's Traveling Zoo,
And the gang of the D G's,
And Wil, who eats BBs.
Yes, what sterling personae you knew.

Why, as quick as a chick's fricasseed, oh
These four years have flown by rapido.
In class, at the Palace,
You rate the gold chalice--
Let us close with this salient credo:

If the fastball's the scalpel, the hammer
Is the deuce, breaking from Maine to 'Bama.
Then you make guys look strange
With that bad circle change.
You're a fun one to watch, Captain Grammer.

To Rhett

My Son, My Son

My son used to ask how he was born -
And I have always told the same story
I said that I asked God for a friend, and I asked God for a very special child -
A child that would have blue eyes, and
A child that I could call my very own

... and God listened

... and he was born

... and I was never lonely again.

Now he is older -

He knows how he was born,

But my reasons are even stronger now.

My son is all that I could want -

He is filled with curiosity, love and eyes

That fill with tears when hard truths come

... He is an enormous joy

... He is my reason for believing in life, birth and truth

And now I ask my son not to be different.

Don't let the world change what you are

... I couldn't stand it.

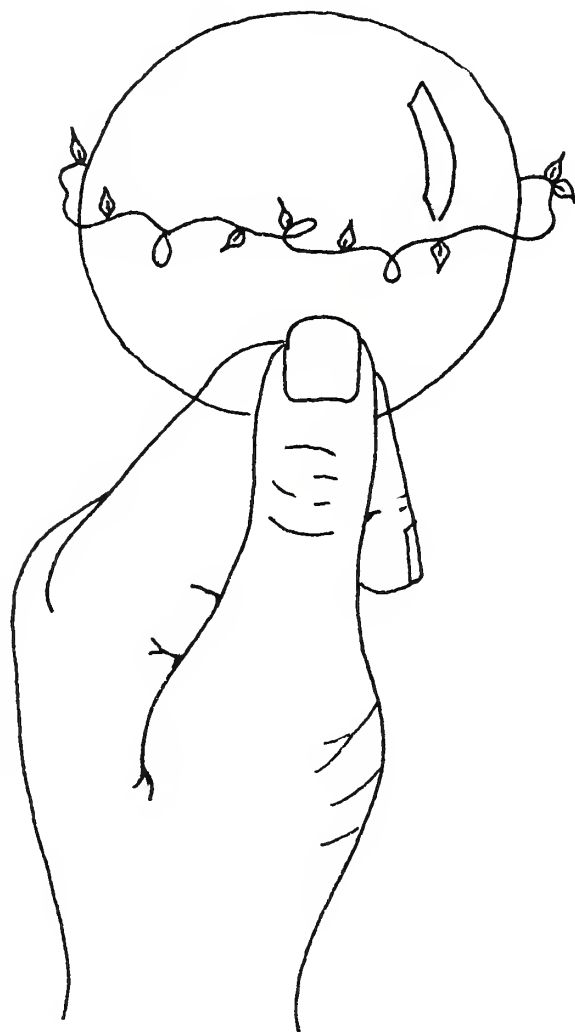

You are still not just a son to me -

But you are the friend I asked for - t the ever more common hour of two a.m., I sit facing the computer screen that I have been looking at for a year, but it's finally over. Maybe I should explain that the tool line running on every page was a continuous one that ends here. Its path is similar to that of our careers at Denison — the destination is clouded by each day and we finally realize what we have accomplished, begin to understand who we are and where we want to go as a result of spending time on the hill.

My final duty is to thank everyone who helped me create, produce and finish this book in any way — I'm now wondering if that is even possible. To begin, Wes Mirick — thank you for being the most patient representative that Taylor Publishing has working for them, and a special thanks for the sundaes at Victoria's, the moral support, and for always having a joke when I needed a laugh. To Tony Facemyre, just a few short weeks ago I finally understood your enthusiasm when I decided to take the position as Editor in Chief, I handed it over to my unsuspecting Assistant Editor, Joni Carey! Thanks for the opportunity, I loved it as much as I hated it! I will always remember the grueling two years that we spent on the fourth floor of Slayter trying to have fun as we preserved Denison's history. I hope you enjoy your copy and next time that our paths cross, let's try soda, not Kool-Aid!

Next, Joni Carey. How can I ever begin? Thanks for being the most loyal assistant editor that anyone could have — for pulling the innumerable all nighters, for understanding the fact that I can work for three days without eating or sleeping, for the advice, the talks, the free dinners, and the gentle reminders that it's okay to occasionally accept imperfection. Most importantly thanks for being such a great friend who puts up with my workaholic behavior (remember all the fun we had in Chicago,) and helping me keep things in perspective. And to think that we would have never met if it wasn't for that unforgettable month in Colwell House! For later reference, thanks to Orion Carey for forcefully teaching me patience and reminding me of all the other important things that three year olds see, but adults forget. To Stephen Enoch: thanks for always being there at three in the morning last spring listening to my every word, although I didn't think you really were, and for unknowingly making me see myself. I think your philosophy that there is a simple "categorical" solution for everything is starting to set in! I also want to say thanks for always supporting me, rescuing me and for working diligently to set up the one joke that makes me so angry I have to laugh — just because it's so easy!

I want to thank Florence Hoffman of the University Archives for helping me find absolutely anything that I needed to know about Denison. Another special thanks goes to Dr. Wally Chessman for having the desire to write Heritage and Promise: Denison 1831-1981. Not only did the research and photos help in the production of this book, but it made me want to learn more about the spirit of Denison — to savor each day, to grow and to keep that spirit alive.

Thanks to Brian Lindamood and Sarah Price for allowing me to use photos and articles from The Denisonian. Hey Sarah, let's do lunch, or even a hockey game! To Carol Jacobs, Kristopher Anderson and any other Denisonian photographer whose picture I may have used — these saved us. Peter Kirby, thanks for helping me harness my ideas into a more precise cover design. To Julie Carver for becoming a staff member after graduation, while living with me last summer, thanks for all of your effort and friendship. Oh, and may Susie Snowflake forever reign in the world of anonymous people! Also thanks to all of my Alpha Chi Omega sisters who were willing to donate pictures and make time to help me with the book or to listen to my sagas. Especially Melissa Erin Wiesmore who was a great business manager and put in hours to help produce this book. Always remember the true meaning of sisterhood, it's precious. Best of everything to all of you.

Finally to my mom and dad, I bet you didn't expect this. I have come to the conclusion that there is no way to ever repay you or thank you enough for all of the support and sacrifices that you made to make me smile over the past twenty-two years. Now is probably a good time to admit that you guys have really gotten smarter as I've grown up! Thanks for the thousands of lessons that taught me to be Me — like "cry after you get the out," making me learn to zip my own coat, and for always agreeing when I said, with the wisdom only a four year old could possess, that I wanted to be the first woman U.S. President. (I hope you're not disappointed, but I'm pretty sure that my political career is ending at Denison!)

Since the Hilltoppers have just finished rehearsing and I've written all that I wanted to say, I'm finally ready to go to sleep. Tomorrow I think I'll go for a walk and really look around to appreciate all this place called Denison has offered, and take some time just for me.

Editor in Chief,

Angela Dawn Keen

Strangely enough,
this is the past that somebody in the future
is longing to go back to.

The Alma Mater — To Denison

V.E. Field, 1903

To Denison we raise our song,
Fair college on the hill,
The name that sets our souls on fire,
And makes our senses thrill.
To Denison, my Denison,
In praise our voices swell,
The scenes of happy college days,
The Home we love so well.

Oh morning glow, which gilds the east,
Oh sun which shines at noon,
Oh stars which bloom at eventide,
Oh radiant glowing moon,
Look from the pathless, azure dome,
Shed blessings from above,
On college halls and college walls,
The Denison we love.

And when the shadows softly fall,
O'er hills and valleys dear,
Across the college campus rings,
The melody so clear;
The circling hills throw back again,
The glad inspiring song,
And in our hearts to Denison,
Our praises we prolong.

When from the fold we far shall stray,
With souls no longer young,
We'll ne'er forget our college days,
These happy scenes among;
And when our steps have feeble grown,
Our journey almost done,
E'en then with fleeting breath we'll praise,
Our dear old Denison.
